RetailzPOS / Moolah Points — Daily Trending Topics Brief

November 11, 2026

Trending now — 6 topics with genuine brand angles

#	Trend	Source	Brand-twist content idea
1	Veterans Day, today (Nov 11, 2026) — the actual federal holiday, dated today.	National Day Calendar — November 11	Instagram/Facebook, pure respect post, zero commercial framing (same approach as the Nov 10 Marine Corps Birthday brief): “To every veteran who’s ever stood behind a counter, run a register, or owned the store next door — thank you for your service.” No deals, no product mention — distinct from any Veterans Day discount post other brands are running today.

#	Trend	Source	Brand-twist content idea
2	National gas prices have fallen to ~$4.02/gal (AAA, as of Nov 8) — near a 4-year low heading into Thanksgiving, down from ~$4.10 a week earlier, with a travel-industry forecast suggesting it could dip toward $3.90–$3.95 by Thanksgiving week.	AAA Gas Prices; travel-industry report, Nov 5 2026	Facebook/Instagram for c-store & liquor-store owners. "Gas is the cheapest it's been in years heading into the holidays — that's extra cash in your customers' pockets at the pump. Make sure it ends up at your counter, not somewhere else. Remind regulars to scan for Moolah Points on every fill-up snack run." No pricing claims of our own, no overconsumption framing — reframes toward snacks/loyalty scans, not alcohol/tobacco volume.
3	Convenience-store self-checkout wave — Eagle Stop, Good 2 Go and MotoMart rolling out self-checkout; Murphy USA adding automated kiosks at larger locations.	C-Store Dive, November 2026 coverage	Owner-to-owner LinkedIn/Facebook post. "Self-checkout is spreading fast in c-stores. Good for speed. Bad for the thing that actually keeps customers loyal — knowing the person behind the counter. If you're small, that relationship IS your loyalty program. Moolah Points just makes it official." Positions independents' human touch as the differentiator against chain automation.

#	Trend	Source	Brand-twist content idea
4	Buc-ee’s reported 210M+ annual customer trips (Numerator report).	Beverage Industry / C-Store Dive, November 2026	Lighthearted Instagram/TikTok carousel. “Buc-ee’s does 210 million trips a year. You don’t need Buc-ee’s traffic — you need regulars who keep coming back. That’s the whole job of a loyalty program.” Clean comparison, no product claims, works across any RetailzPOS vertical.
5	Golden Gate Petroleum just launched its own branded loyalty program and app — a direct competitor-adjacent move in the fuel/c-store loyalty space.	C-Store Dive, November 2026 roundup	Educational post for existing RetailzPOS merchants. “Even the big fuel/c-store players are racing to launch loyalty apps right now. You don’t have to build one from scratch — Moolah Points is already built into your system. If you haven’t turned it on for your regulars yet, now’s a good time.” Nudges feature adoption rather than claiming an unverifiable stat.

#	Trend	Source	Brand-twist content idea
6	“Pick your favorite thing” TikTok trend — early-stage, currently-building format where creators film themselves picking their single favorite item from a shelf or category.	Virlo.ai trend tracker, last updated late Oct/ early Nov	Store-specific TikTok/Reels content. Have a staff member or owner film themselves walking the aisle and “picking their favorite thing” — e.g. a smoke shop’s best-selling accessory, a convenience store’s top snack, a CBD shop’s staff-pick product — in the trend’s exact format. No claims about product effects, just a personality-driven pick. A natural fit for the “Counter Culture” video muscle already being built.

Skipped / unconfirmed despite searching: Target’s early Black Friday sale (Nov 5–7) — still only pre-sale promo listings, no post-event recap exists anywhere. NRF Halloween final spending — still only the pre-season $13.5B forecast; no post-season actual figure appears to ever get published. 7-Eleven franchisee data breach (disclosed Nov, occurred April 2026) — real and sourced, but deliberately excluded: using a competitor’s security incident as a marketing hook reads as opportunistic, not owner-to-owner. General Reddit “trending today” — no dated November roundup found; nothing confirmed. Movember — real and dated, but no genuine liquor/c-store/smoke-vape/CBD angle that isn’t forced; most tie-ins are grooming/apparel/fundraising. General Google Trends items (sports, awards, politics) — checked, no plausible brand angle.

Compliance check: none of the 6 kept ideas implies pricing/discounts of our own; none encourages overconsumption or carries underage-adjacent framing (idea #2 explicitly reframes toward snacks/Moolah Points scans, not alcohol/tobacco volume); idea #6 uses a product-agnostic “favorite item” format that avoids highlighting any regulated product’s effects. Voice stays plain, owner-to-owner, and specific throughout.