Trending now — 1 topic with a genuine brand angle

1	Today, Nov 3, is National Sandwich Day — a real, dated-today food observance.	National Day Calendar — November 3	Instagram, light convenience/light-grocery merchandising nudge. "It's National Sandwich Day — a good excuse to make sure deli bread, lunch meat, cheese, and condiments are actually stocked and easy to grab today, not scattered across three aisles. Small, easy win." No product claim beyond basic stocking, zero compliance risk — works for convenience/light-grocery stores specifically.

Skipped / unconfirmed, despite extensive searching: Election Day 2026 U.S. retail-traffic data — nothing 2026-specific found; only stale 2024 patterns surfaced. Halloween final spending tallies — still only the pre-event NRF $13.5B forecast (already covered); no post-season results published yet. Convenience-store news — nothing dated past September 2026. State vape/CBD law — nothing new and state-specific for this week. Loyalty-program news — the one stat found was already flagged stale in a prior edition's research. TikTok trends — nothing specific or retrievable surfaced. Diwali business news — still entirely India-market coverage, nothing US-merchant-relevant. Gas prices — a new AAA figure exists but reads as a minor update to the Oct 30 “record October high” story already covered, not a distinct angle.

Compliance check: the one idea implies no pricing, no overconsumption, and no underage-adjacent framing — it’s a neutral food-holiday stocking nudge for light-grocery/deli items, no alcohol/tobacco/CBD mention, and nothing here takes a political side on Election Day.
